

BRITISH

Policy in Ireland Shown in Its True Light By Writer in Hearst's Magazine.

Charles Edward Russell's History of the Recent Irish Rebellion.

Militarism and Cruelties That Shocked the Entire World.

STILL ENGLAND OF CROMWELL

With the British Government facing reverses on the battlefield and disruption of government at home comes the thought that the prayers of many Irishmen and their descendants are being answered and that the dominating tyrant John Bull is now ready to reap the reward of his cruel oppression of Ireland for past centuries. In this connection everyone should read "The True Story of the Irish Rebellion" in Hearst's Magazine this month, in which Charles Edward Russell, an unbiased writer, tells of that awful blot in English history and how the public outside has never heard the true story of what was termed the Irish rebellion. The writer says that with an all-powerful press censor and a gagged press the public was led to believe that the rebellion was the work of a few fanatics, known as Sinn Feiners, but in truth the title Sinn Feiner was a misnomer, and that it was a revolt of the best people in Ireland, with the Sinn Feiners only a part, in discussing the causes the writer says:

High treason in the British Empire must be what Count Metternich called a "geographical expression." So soon as they saw the home rule bill would be passed the leaders in Ireland began to organize a revolution much more open and dangerous than any so-called Irish rebel ever projected and yet with impunity. In the plainest terms they served notice on the Government that home rule meant the secession of Ireland and that bloody civil war would be the result of any attempt to keep her in the kingdom. The Ulster Volunteers were formed, drilled and armed, more than 100,000 of them, for the express purpose of establishing Ulster's independence; for that guns, ammunition and supplies were accumulated. Plans were made to seize at a signal the Postoffice and other public buildings in Belfast and to proclaim an insurgent government.

Not a hand was laid on the men who led this rebellion. Sir Edward Carson, its commander-in-chief, sat in Parliament and went to and fro upon his mission, concocting treason, revolt and civil war, unmolested and unfettered. When it was proposed to suppress with the might of the army the rebellion, that indignantly plotted, British army officers were fired, killed and maimed. Sir John French, then Chief-of-staff, resigned rather than bear arms against his fellow subjects. The Government not only tolerated these acts of insubordination, but before long gave French a still more important command.

After discussing the organization of the Irish rebels, Mr. Russell then tells of the actual fighting wherein these raw recruits held the flower of the English army at bay for several days. Then follows his description of Butcher Maxwell's reign:

Gen. Sir John Maxwell had been sent over in chief command to put down the rebellion. He lost no time in setting his court-martial to work, trying men the day and shooting them the next. There was no mercy and little consideration. British newspapers that afterward bitterly denounced the farcical court-martial of Captain Fryatt applauded the work of Sir John Maxwell's court-martial, equally farcical, and demanded more. The learned man of letters, Patrick Pearse and Joseph Plunkett, the poets; Edmund Kent, the scholar; James Connolly, the humanitarian; Thomas Clarke, the indomitable opponent of British rule; John McBride, the tender and softly smiling man, were all sent to the gallows. The so-called trials were secret; nothing was known of them until Maxwell gave out a curt announcement of the shootings. It appears that only young Kent made any appeal against his fate; the others went to death without a word. Connolly was so badly shattered with wounds that to get a chance to shoot him his executioners must prop him in a chair, a circumstance that might well be read in connection with accounts of the Fryatt case. The night before young Plunkett was killed he was married to Miss Grace Gifford, an artist, to whom he had long been affianced. The night before Patrick Pearse was killed he wrote a beautiful poem, not related to the revolution, but dwelling with a soft and caressing tenderness on the beauty of fields and flowers.
King or no king, I do not believe the world could well afford to lose such a soul.

In all, the court-martial crushed the lives out of fifteen of the leaders. De Valera, perhaps, because he was born in America was commuted to life imprisonment.
Someone that happened to remember Edith Cavell secured a like sentence for the Countess Markiewicz. More than two hundred others, some of whom had nothing to do with the uprising, were sentenced for various terms of life. Thousands were shut in concentration camps. It was the modern version of Jeffreys and the Bloody Assize.

Following a description of the brutal murder of Skeffington, Dickson and McIntyre, whom it developed later had no part in the rebellion, the executioners were battered by world-wide denunciation, of which the writer says:

The contrasts were too glaring.
Not one thing had the revolutionists done that Sir Edward Carson and his followers had not openly plotted and done. The revolutionists had followed the Ulster example and the seizure of the Postoffice was copied from the Carson plans. For Carson, a place in the Cabinet; for Patrick Pearse the firing squad and the rifles at his heart. It was too much for the sense of all just men and all the world there theme revolted at it. And now there theme this narrative of the innocent Skeffington, struck down in the sheer lust of bloodshed. The state of Ireland, when that story became known sent at last a reasoning chill to the faintest member of a dense Government. Instead of the insurrection having been suppressed by the summary shootings, it had only begun with them! Ireland was under martial law with a bayonet at every corner, or certainly we should have had some extraordinary scenes.
On the top of all this the incomparably stupid Government now proceeded to hang Casement. "Armed and open revolt" the London press called his offense. Yes—but how about Christian DeWet? In the early days of the war he had organized and led an "armed and open revolt" much more dangerous than the poet's protest; he was taken red-handed, but he was not put to death. Why, then, this manifest discrimination against Irishmen? It can mean only one thing, men said, in spite of the helated professions of philanthropy and the best sentiments, England is still the England of Strongbow and Cromwell.
At heart, men said, her hatred has never abated; and all the good effects of the land-purchase act and the famine vanished over night, shot to pieces by a Government determined to have blood and plenty of it.

It has no sense; it deserves any misfortune that may befall it in Ireland. It does things so small and mean that a mosquito in the chamber of commerce of his consciousness would be ashamed of them. James Connolly left a widow and five children, all girls, the oldest seventeen years old. They were in the utmost destitution. Mrs.
Connolly, a decent, kindly woman, had no knowledge of her husband's so-called treason, and she had been propped up and shot. Dublin tried to find work for the oldest girl. The only place they could find paid sixty-two cents a week. A fund was now raised to send the family to America, where Mrs. Connolly could find work and relatives, who would care for her and her children. Tickets were bought and all arrangements made when a Government officer stepped in and forbade the departure on the ground that in America the family would be exploited by the Government. After the Government could not allow a word of any of this to be published or to pass through the mails.

The result of this is a new spirit in Ireland, and one that the buntings Government might well look upon with the utmost concern.
Instead of the old enthusiasm of few revolutionists, there is a deep-seated and abiding conviction of wrong. This generation will not see the end of it. Grimly silent they will find an expression as sure as the bayonet on its way.
The bayonet can not always be at Ireland's throat. When it is taken away I think there is going to be trouble. There are today in Ireland ten times as many of what the London press calls Sinn Feiners as there were a few years ago. The dullest politician might draw instruction from that one fact.

TRINITY COUNCIL ELECTION.
Trinity Council, Y. M. C., held its annual election of officers in its club house Monday evening with the largest attendance of the year and much interest was shown in the selection of officers. The following will conduct the affairs of the council in 1917: President, Harry J. Hennessy; First Vice President, Henry Schachter; Second Vice President, E. C. Schwab; Recording Secretary, John Sullivan; Corresponding Secretary, P. E. Bowling; Financial Secretary, John L. Timmel; Treasurer, C. E.
Muller; Marshal, Peter Tivnan; Inside Sentinel, Roger Glenn; Outside Sentinel, Herbert Blair; Executive Committee, James B. Kelly, B.
J. Sandman, John L. Cuniffe, J. C.
Kirehdorfer, V. K. Becker, Collector, Edward Kelly. A class of sixty is expected to take the degrees next Monday. The initiation exercises to be conducted by the Unity Council degree team, of New Albany, and owing to the large class President B. J. Sandman will open the meeting at 7:30 o'clock sharp.

PRESIDENT ATTENDS MASS.
Pontifical high mass was celebrated by Cardinal Gihons in Washington on last Wednesday in honor of the late Emperor Francis Joseph, of Austria, and among those present were President Wilson, Secretary Lansing, President Zwickel, Charge d'Affaires of Austria-Hungary, Count von Bornstorff, German Ambassador, members of the staffs of the Austria-Hungarian and German Embassies and a number of the members of the diplomatic corps.

SCHOLAR AND PATRIOT.
Count George Plunkett, noted Irish scholar and patriot, whose son was executed as a rebel in the Irish revolt, was sixty-five years old last Sunday.

PASSING OF VETERAN.

Col. Thomas Shea, retired officer of the United States army, who fought through the civil war and later saw service in Indian campaigns, died early Sunday morning at his home, 934 South Third street, where he had been seriously ill three weeks. Col. Shea was a warm friend of President Andrew Johnson, and through his influence his meritorious conduct he rose rapidly and, when honorably mustered out in 1865, had attained the rank of Colonel. He was for ten years in the regular army, and as Colonel commanded at Washington until the western troubles broke out in the West, where he rendered splendid service to the Government. After retiring from active service Col.
Shea returned to Kentucky and made his home at Westport for many years. About ten years ago he removed to this city. He was a member of the George H. Thomas Post, G. A. R. He was also a member of the Holy Name Society of St. Louis Bertrand church, and was an active member of that congregation. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Helen Jennings Shea, and two sons, Joseph and Walter, both of whom are in the United States Ambassador to Chile, and several other nieces and nephews also survive him. The funeral was held Tuesday morning from St. Louis Bertrand church, the Grand Army veterans acting as guard of honor and escorting the remains to the cemetery.

A. O. H. ELECTION.

Division 3, A. O. H., held its annual election of officers last past week and selected John I. Riley to lead the division the coming year, his energetic and untiring efforts for the good of the division making his selection a popular choice. The officers elected were:
President—John I. Riley.
Vice President—Tim O'Leary.
Recording Secretary—John Martin.
Financial Secretary—John J.
Broderick.
Treasurer—Daniel J. Dougherty.
Sergeant-at-Arms—Alfred Begley.
Sentinel—Thomas Noone.

JOLLIES OF 1916.

A big sale of tickets has been reported for the performances of "The Jollies of 1916," which is to be given under the auspices of the local lodge of Elks next Thursday Friday and Saturday evenings and Saturday matinee. The proceeds of the four performances will be distributed by the Elks Charity Committee and this is an incentive for all to lend a willing hand. All of the best of the local talent will be seen in "The Jollies" and a first-class entertainment is assured. The committee in charge are: Herman Cohn, Chairman; Ben H. Sachs, Cohn, Charles H. Gaar, Treasurer; Laban Phelps, D. A. Cline, Jr., J.
S. Miller, Tom D. Cline, Jr., J.
Meyers, William Shymanski, Horace Newmark, George F. Kretschmer, Jr., Al. W. Clegg, Herbert H. Eckert, Frank Isert, H. H. Schoppen-felder, W. Lee Elkins, Kendrick Lewis, George M. Cusaden, Jr., William C. Brown, Herbert Mc-Cleary, Robert W. Brown, Nathan Kahn.

BASKETBALL.

Raymond E. Schott and Eugene Michot, of Mackin Council, have been placed in charge of the representative basketball team for this year. With these in charge no doubt they will have one of the best organizations in the history of the league. Any member desiring a try-out for the team may confer with either of the above mentioned.
The regular league games are being held every Wednesday evening and much rivalry exists. The public is cordially invited to attend these games.

CATHOLIC ORPHAN SOCIETY.

Owing to the amount of business coming before the annual meeting of the Catholic Orphan Society last Sunday afternoon and the absence of a number of delegates the nomination of officers for the ensuing year was deferred until next Monday night, December 11, when a general meeting will be held at the Knights of Columbus Hall, 816 South Fourth street. Everyone interested in the welfare of the orphans should attend and make this a thoroughly representative meeting.

EVENING CLASSES.

On Tuesday evening of each week at Mackin Council a commercial law course is being taught by George Thornton. Quite a few have taken an interest in this course and all members desiring to enter should be at the club house Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. On Thursday night the evening classes for a number of years have been being held, in which J. J. Kennedy is in charge. On Friday high penmanship and arithmetic are being taught by William A. Link.

PRESENTATION ACADEMY.

Thursday there was a delightful Christmas entertainment at Presentation Academy by the three primary classes. There were songs, recitations and music, and the little ones who have just commenced their studies acquitted themselves acceptably. Many friends and parents were present and enjoyed the occasion.

FORTY HOURS.

The Forty Hours devotions will open tomorrow, the second Sunday of Advent, at St. Mary's church, Elm and Cedar, beginning with the high mass and ending Tuesday.
Rev. Father Westermann will direct the services, assisted by members of the local clergy.

PROHIBITION

Latest Despairing Effort of Haly-Beckham Machine to Come Back.

And Only Possible Hope For Republican Party in Kentucky Politics.

Wood Axton Sees Handwriting
On Wall and Will Not Run For Mayor.

BANDANA CLUB REORGANIZES

This past week in politics was marked by the desperate effort of Percy Haly to again obtain a foothold in State Democratic politics and to that end he and his former office-holding henchmen labored hard to control the election of precinct committeemen and county Chairmen. The primary intention was to obtain a following for Beckham's nomination and re-election a couple of years hence and to give sturdy opposition to Senator James in the primary of 1918. Haly realizing that the latter is most important, as he shrewdly figures that as long as Oille James is in the Senate Beckham is playing a weak second fiddle as far as patronage is concerned, and without patronage Beckham's terms as governor. Nonetheless, Haly is also a man in the political field. This is demonstrated by the small figure he has cut in State politics since the end of Gov. McCreary's administration, during which he had completed the machine organization started during Beckham's terms as governor. Residing in this awful power, it requires no great calculation to demonstrate that Haly deserves no boutquets for his political astuteness.
The only real test of the Haly-Beckham strength was last year in the election of the Mayor.
Cheesey was defeated badly on the pet prohibition platform which had been evolved from a dream of Haly's.

The result in the precinct elections can not in any instance be dated as victories for Haly and Beckham, as in many cases the Haly-Beckham machine, as a publican and pro-Beckham papers, as some of the successful ones were antagonistic to Gov. Stanley and the administration because of failure to receive political appointments, and this class should not be placed in Haly-Beckham's column. The Louisville Herald went so far as to say that the men chosen in Louisville and Jefferson county were friendly to the Haly-Beckham machine, while the truth is that Democrats here are about as friendly to Haly and Beckham as the Kaiser would be to King George. On account of gratitude to the Evening Post for its help in municipal races some of our prominent Democrats espoused Beckham's cause in 1914 and secured a creditable vote for him in this district, this vote being enough to secure his nomination, and for this mistake a number of these Democrats have been wearing sackcloth and ashes since. It is indeed adding insult to injury in classing these men as Haly-Beckham supporters now, or even for any length of time after Beckham's reign. The Haly-Beckham machine dropped from Beckham's 4,000 in 1914 to McCreary's few hundred in 1915.
As predicted in these columns, the Haly and Haswell announcements in the Republican party in favor of prohibition would be followed by similar announcements throughout the State, the Republicans realizing that their chances for victory in any district along the old lines is pretty small and they are unanimously falling back on prohibition as a last resort.
Throughout the State the Republicans are sure of Hughes' election and along the line were planning for the local races next year, with the Federal office-holders as the nucleus of Republican strength, but the election of Wilson came as a death blow to this prospect and those who see no future prospects for the G. O. P., even with prohibition for their standard, will desert in great numbers next year. This is illustrated in local Republican circles.
Wood Axton, the Progressive nominee for Mayor, three years ago, was jumped back into the Republican ranks and worked hard for its nominees, with the assurance that next year he would be given the Republican nomination unopposed.
Of course he probably thought, like the others, that Hughes was a certainly a big name and that he would send him little soliciting letters to the Federal employees for campaign contributions. After the election it was again rumored that Axton would be a candidate anyway, but now it can positively be asserted that he will not run for Mayor, at least because of the party's prohibition platform, but whatever the cause Axton is out of the race without a doubt.

Certainly a dismal outlook confronts Matt Chilton and Chesley Seary, dictators in local Republican circles, with Axton out of it and forced to espouse prohibition, they are ready to hand the nominations to most anyone for next year, and to that end will probably give the nomination for Mayor to Herman Monroe and divide the other two among Louis Vismann, Robert Lucas, Frank Grone, Gus Naurath, Joe Coulking and J. P.
Cunningham, father of the Railroad Hughes-Fairbanks Club. On the other hand the Democrats have such a bright outlook that prospects are that every office will be contested for by three or more except County Attorney, Jailor and County Assessor, the latter to go to Allen Smith unless County Judge Greene appoints some one else to fill the unexpired term. Incidentally with the bright outlook for Democracy the Bandana Club, famous in local history, has reorganized and promises to be a big factor in local politics. The officers are John L. Gruher, President; Thomas O'Mara, Vice President; Edward Huechler, Secretary; Wil-lain Shumate, Treasurer, and William J. Connelly, Treasurer. Keep your eye on the Bandana Club.

RECENT DEATHS.

Death's angel last Sunday invaded the home of Mr. and Mrs.
Patrick Halpin, 2228 West Main street, taking from them their infant daughter. The funeral was held Monday afternoon, with interment in St. Louis cemetery.

Mrs. Matilda C. Donahue, aged sixty-five, widow of John Donahue, closed a useful and well spent life Monday morning, leaving a wide circle of friends who mourn her death. She was the mother of Mrs.
Charles Cate, of Brooklyn; Miss Frances Conroy, night supervisor of nurses at the City Hospital, and Mrs. M. D. Galligan, 1427 East Becklin street, with whom she made her home. Her funeral was held Wednesday morning with religious high mass at St. Brigid's church.

St. William's church has lost another old and faithful member by the death of Mrs. Ellen Glenn, widow of John Glenn, 1124 West Kentucky street. Mrs. Glenn was born in Ireland seventy-four years ago, but since girlhood had been a highly esteemed and respected resident of this city. The funeral was held Thursday morning, Rev.
George M. Connor conducting the solemn obsequies. Mrs. Glenn leaves five daughters, Mrs. Alice McGloskey, Mrs. Lee Young and Misses Mary, Nellie and Cordelia Glenn.

Mrs. Isabelle Blandford, seventy years old, died Monday morning at the home of her son, Undertaker E. Blandford, 2011 South Fourth street. She was a Christian woman, active in church and charity work all her life, and made friends among all classes. The funeral was held Tuesday morning from Holy Name church, Rev. Father John O'Connor celebrating the requiem mass. Besides her husband, Mrs.
Blandford leaves four sons, T. A.
W. M. Albert and Roy Blandford, and two daughters, Mrs. M. J.
Donahue and Mrs. E. W. Russell.

The West End mourns the death of Sylvester Doyle, which occurred Wednesday morning at his home, 114 North Eighteenth street. Six months ago Mr. and Mrs. Doyle celebrated their golden wedding, an event of great interest to their wide circle of friends. The deceased was seventy-two years old and was long an active figure in St. Patrick's parish and Catholic circles. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ellen Doyle; two sons, James and Thomas Doyle; and three daughters, Mrs.
Charles Dunlap, Mrs. John Mc-George and Miss Margaret Doyle.
The funeral was held yesterday morning from St. Patrick's, attended by many old friends and associates.

SACRED HEART CHURCH.

Tomorrow will be the twenty-fifth anniversary of the pastorate of the Rev. Father Patrick Walsh at the Sacred Heart church, Seventeenth and Broadway. Father Walsh has been an earnest worker and no priest is more popular with people here than he. His long service has been marked by many wishes and have no celebration of the occasion other than the regular Sunday services. During his pastorate he has succeeded in cancelling the heavy debt that rested on the parish when he took charge, the church being consecrated some years ago. He also enlarged the Sacred Heart School, now one of the best in the State, and this heavy expense has also been wiped out.
The congregation prays that he may be spared to them for his golden jubilee as their spiritual father.

VINCENTIAN.

Tomorrow morning the members of the various St. Vincent de Paul Conferences will visit their respective churches and receive holy communion in body. In the afternoon the general meeting will take place in the Knights of Columbus Hall on Fourth street, when the address will be delivered by the Rev.
Francis J. Keller of St. Vincent de Paul's church. The fact that reports of the year's work will be read will make the meeting one of much interest, and therefore President John A. Doyle looks for a really large attendance.

ELECTION TOMORROW.

The nomination and election of officers of the Ladies' Sewing Society of St. Joseph's Orphans' Home for the year 1917 will be held at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the orphanage on Frankfort avenue. All members are earnestly requested to be present and bring their friends, and thus help make this meeting and election interesting.

NIGHT FOR LADIES.

The Columbia Athletic Club will again have a series of turkey games for the entertainment of its members and friends, and Tuesday night, December 19, has been set aside especially for the lady friends of this popular young men's society.
The games will be conducted in a satisfactory manner and courteous attention will be shown all who attend.

BAN ON BILLY SUNDAY.

Cardinal O'Connell, Archbishop of Boston, has placed the ban on Billy Sunday meetings in Boston and forbidden Catholics under pain of sin to attend these revivals. Of Billy Sunday and his meetings Cardinal O'Connell says:
"It would appear that many people—even Catholics—labor under the misapprehension that the exercises going on in the Huntington avenue 'tabernacle' are not Protestant services. The fact that picnastic language is employed there or grotesque antics indulged in does not change the essential quality of these 'revival' meetings.
The fact that practically all the Protestant ministers in this locality have closed their meeting houses and are lending their presence to these meetings ought to be proof enough in all reason. Moreover, the Rev. Mr. Sunday, at times, permits himself to utter the rankest sort of heresy—not to emphasize expressions and speaking that are little short of blasphemous. Let there be no mistake about this matter.
Catholics are not allowed to take part in these revival meetings, and if they do they commit sin."

MACKIN COUNCIL.

One of the largest and best meetings of this year of Mackin Council was held Monday evening in which the election of officers took place. Very much enthusiasm was shown in the selection of officers, as all but the offices of President and Treasurer had two or more nominees. President Huhub's record of last year, in which he was so faithful, had much to do with the success of the council for the year of 1916. This was shown by him being re-elected unanimously. George Thornton was also re-elected unanimously. The officers elected to serve for the ensuing year are as follows: President—S. O. Huhub.
First Vice President—William
A. Link.
Second Vice President—Raymond
E. Schott.
Financial Secretary—William G.
Buckel.
Recording Secretary—Robert Morris.
Treasurer—George J. Thornton.
Marshal—Joseph Hohman.
Inside Sentinel—Morris Buttimer.
Outside Sentinel—James Hill.
Executive Committee—John J.
Lynn, August Hoertz, George Simons, Fred Herp, Robert Schaecker.

WILL YOU HELP?

There are numbers of Catholics who are willing to help our missionaries and make their Christmas happy. Among the latter are numbers who will be disappointed if some generous person does not contribute a donation to the defray the expense of a priest.
There are a number of missionaries who would like to see an altar, a sanctuary lamp, a ciboria, a monstrance or a set of stations of the cross in their little church on Christmas day. Will their dreams become realities this Christmas morning? All donations will be gratefully received by the Catholic Church Extension Society, whose offices are located at 750 McCormick building, Chicago, Ill.

NEW ALBANY.

Officers have been elected by Unity Council, Y. M. C., of New Albany, as follows: John Pontrich, President; Carl L. Fenger, First Vice President; Frank L. O'Hara, Second Vice President; Solomon Diekmann, Recording Secretary; Frank Zoeller, Jr., Financial Secretary; Edmund E. Schmitt, Treasurer; C. Urban Zoeller, Marshal; Daniel Burke, Inside Sentinel;
Frank S. Biggs, Outside Sentinel, and Edward Tighe, Leon Gohmann, Jacob Renna, Frank Ritz, Fred C.
Reisz, Executive Committee.

QUEEN'S DAUGHTERS.

The Queen's Daughters will have a Christmas Shop and Tea this Saturday at 666 South Fourth street. The following will have charge of the different tables: Arl—Miss Phoebe Harris.
Housekeepers—Mrs. William Lawler.
Baby Table—Mrs. L. V. Cassidy.
Dolls—Miss Mamie Shubman.
Crab Bag—Mrs. J. B. Arnegust.

herly.

CROSS THE RIVER.

William L. Larkin, a clerk with the Louisville Gas and Electric Company, and Miss Ruth H. Ogden gave their friends a surprise when they announced that on Friday evening of last week they had crossed over to Jeffersonville and were quietly married at St. Augustine's, the Rev. Bernard Sheridan, the assistant pastor, performing the ceremony.

IMMACULATE CONCEPTION.

The feast of the Immaculate Conception was marked by a large attendance at the masses yesterday morning in all the Catholic churches of the city. Special services were held at St. Mary's, Eighth and Cedar, and at St. Louis, Betrand's there was a procession in the evening, a reception into the Society of the Immaculate Conception, a sermon by the Rev. William Bonnell, O. P., of St. Rose, Springfield, and benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

VISITING PATIENTS.

CONSISTORY

Pope Benedict Makes Known the Nomination of Ten New Cardinals.

Immediate Publication of the New Code of Canonical Law.

Deplores War Barbarities and the Aerial Bombardment of Cities.

PUBLIC CONSISTORY THURSDAY

At a secret consistory held Monday morning in Rome, which was attended by twenty-eight Cardinals, Pope Benedict announced the nomination of ten new Cardinals, says a dispatch to the Havas Agency.
The new Cardinals are: Monsignor La Fontaine, Patriarch of Venice; Monsignor Donato Sbarretti, former Apostolic Delegate in Canada, late Bishop of Havana, and recently Assessor of the Holy See; Monsignor Debourg, Archbishop of Rennes; Monsignor Dubola, Archbishop of Rouen; Monsignor Vittorio Amedeo Ranzani di Bianchi, Major-domo of the Vatican; Monsignor Boggiani, Secretary of the Holy Office and former Apostolic Delegate to Mexico; Monsignor Ascalesi, Archbishop of Benevento; Monsignor Maurin, Bishop of Grenoble; Monsignor Marini, Secretary of the Holy Signature, and Monsignor Clerici, Secretary of the Council.

Bishop Maurin, of Grenoble, will become Archbishop of Lyons, and Bishop Dubola, of Rouen, becomes Archbishop of Rouen. Two more Cardinals are to be nominated shortly.

Pope Benedict, the dispatch adds, announced the immediate publication of a new code of canonical law, of numerous different ecclesiastical laws now sitting.

In his election Pope Benedict denounced the aerial bombardment of open cities and condemned all those who, he said, had defied the laws of God, and men in the present war. The Pope said, "It

MEXICO COSTLY.

Our attempt to "capture Villa, dead or alive," has already caused the death of sixty officers and privates, the retirement of hundreds of others for disability, and cost the nation approximately $100,000,000, and the assertion is frequently made that the United States has barely made a start on its Mexican campaign.

QUESTION OF POLICY.

Rev. Edward A. Flannery, associate editor of the Southern Guardian, of Little Rock, Ark., discusses the report of Col. P. H. Callahan's Religious Prejudice Commission as follows:

"It is not because we do not agree with many of the suggestions of his report that we permit ourselves the privilege of questioning certain recommendations of Col. Callahan, the Chairman of the Religious Prejudice Commission of the Knights of Columbus. We have much sympathy with the complaint of the Chairman that his work has not met with the universal endorsement of churchmen. In fact many of the editors of Catholic papers have been tempted to criticize rather sharply some of the ideas put forth by the Chairman of this commission. His claim that bigotry is waning does not seem to be borne out by contemporaneous history and his contention that the conciliatory method reports more consoling success than the ancient contentious policy may be open to debate. The weakness of the whole viewpoint of Col. Callahan, as it appears to us, is his delusion that he knows more about the religious situation in the United States than the clerics who have made a close study of the matter years before the name of the gentleman from Kentucky was mentioned in Catholic circles. A layman must remember that no approaches all questions involving religious controversy without sufficient training to understand the various angles of the subjects brought into debate. Some sincere pursuers of religious unity may forget that we can buy unity too dearly, at the cost of fundamental truth. It is all very well to be at outward peace with our neighbors, but it is infinitely more important to preserve the faith in all essential elements. Conciliation may be welcome under certain conditions, but not at the compromise of Catholic truth. No layman has been commissioned by the Saviour to pretend to infallibility in dealing with religious problems, and the more outspoken such a one becomes in his insistence that only his views are right the more he lays himself open to the suspicion that he is wrong."

SHOULD BE HEEDED.

The Governors of the Federal Reserve Banks have warned investors of the risk of purchasing unsecured notes of Allied governments. This was of course to be expected. Governments have a way of dodging payments of their obligations, which unwary investors will find to their cost. We do not say that the obligations will be repudiated. Not at all. But the short-term notes can be a little manipulated, due to necessity, be converted into long-term notes, and then when they become a drug in the market and prices go tumbling down, as will inevitably be the case, Government steps in and offers to "redeem" them at their face value by other notes or bonds bearing a low rate of interest, and the unfortunate investor will be obliged to accept the government's offer or sell at a big loss. The pronouncement of the Governors of the Federal Reserve Banks is timely and should be heeded by investors for their own good.

Drops of two cents in butter and one cent in cold storage eggs, that have been subjected to numerous advances of five cents each, are not very cheering. The drops should have been at least fifteen and twenty cents.

Red Cross seals and stamps must not be placed on the address side of mail.

COMING EVENTS.

Three good reasons why you should purchase your coat at McLain's New Store.

(1) Our buying department in New York, buying exclusively for us by constantly shopping among the manufacturers, secures the very best and latest styles at the lowest possible price.

(2) Our policy of selling for cash only, by saving losses from uncollectable accounts, cuts down our cost of operating and permits us to pay cash for our merchandise and thus to secure it at the very lowest price.

(3) During our "Getting-Acquainted" Sale we are selling goods at cost, plus the expense of handling.

The above reasons also explain the remarkable values in our Suits, Dress, Waist and Skirt departments.

Exquisitely finished, gracefully designed and thoroughly well made. Golden oak or rich mahogany finishes. Large, massive, striking and an ornament to any room. Worth $17.50 to $20.00 in most stores. While the finishes are imitations of mahogany and quartered oak they are just as handsome, as perfect and as durable, and the difference is largely a matter of sentiment. The top measures 42x26 inches and has generous drawer. Note the heavy columns and the wide shelf. A truly remarkable offer. Don't fail to get one.

What They Have Been Doing

the Past Week—General

News Notes.

Division 4 will hold its annual election of officers Monday evening. County President John Hennessy is laying wires for a big parade on St. Patrick's day.

Local members are still talking of the successful initiation of last week.

An exceptionally pleasing reception was given the State and county officers of the order last Sunday at Seattle. Delegations also came from Tacoma and Everett.

The Indianapolis Ladies' Auxiliary initiated a large class at St. Joseph's Hall, when Mrs. Margaret Taylor, the State President, presented beautiful gifts to retiring county officers.

The county convention of the Ladies' Auxiliary at Buffalo was one of the most successful ever held. Mrs. Margaret L. Burns was elected County President for the next two years.

For several months the Hibernians of Pueblo, Col., have been working for a large class. Their expectations were realized with the initiation last week, which closed with an elaborate banquet and patriotic address by Rev. T. J. Wolohan and Judge M. J. Galligan.

MISSION A SUCCESS.

The Dominican fathers, Rev. J. R. Clark and Rev. J. L. Flaherty, of the mission band at St. Louis Bertrand's, this city, last Sunday evening concluded a well attended and most successful week's mission at St. Anthony's church, Bellevue. On the first three days there were special services for the children.

GET TOGETHER MEETING.
Louisville Council, Knights of Columbus, will have a "Get together" meeting next Wednesday evening and Chairman George H. Naber, of the Entertainment Committee, urges a large attendance, as some novel and amusing features will be introduced, and as the announcement puts it there will be no long faces tolerated.

ENGLAND'S BLOCKADE.

The effect of the English Government's blockade of trade between this country and Germany is shown by the following figures: Exports and imports between the United States and Germany in October, 1916, amounted to $85,417, compared with $2,763,405 in October, 1915. For the ten months ending October our trade with Germany amounted to $5,235,970, compared with $40,972,688 for the corresponding period of last year.
